DESIGN

USER REPLACEABLE BITE PAD

Our patent pending design allows the musician to simply peel off their old bite pad to replace it with a new one. Varying density bite pads create an individualized feel for maximum comfort. Choices range from a traditional hard-rubber feel to a soft plush feel.

STYLES

1. HARD BITE PAD: Creates the feel of hard rubber. Hard enough for the teeth to slide on the mouthpiece beak, but soft enough to absorb vibrations. Great for those in the Joe Allard school of playing. Shown to the far right.

2. STANDARD BIT PAD: Medium density with a good overall feel. Teeth do not slide but stay in place on the beak of the mouthpiece. This is the same bite pad supplied with all Theo Wanne mouthpieces. Shown in the middle.

3. SOFT BITE PAD: Soft and thick pad to protect the teeth from large amounts of vibration. Please note: this bite pad is thicker than our standard bite pad. It protrudes slightly from the recessed bite pad holder built into the beak of our mouthpieces. Shown to the left.
